This book answers some crucial questions which grip virtually every believer: What do I do when others demean or hurt me? And how should I respond when others honor or compliment me? Rejection and praise are like twin gullies that flank the narrow highway of holiness. Every step counts. For Jesus, man's opinions were meaningless in light of the exuberant affection and passionate approval of His Father. Let God's truth set you free from the power of rejection's woundings and from the entrapment of man's praises. Learn how to hold your heart before God

It serves as a guide and tool to help believers, worship leaders, worship teams, and even ministers understand the ministry of praise and worship. This book shows that it is biblical to express yourself in worship by clapping, singing, prostrating, kneeling, sobbing, etc. Praise and worship are a command from the Lord, and as children of God, we must pay attention to the Word of God concerning worship. Worship is personal and cooperate as well. This book teaches that worship is more than our 45 minutes time allotted on Sunday morning. It must become a lifestyle, and we must worship our Father in spirit and in truth; it is a command. Free TO Worship Liberated TO Praise indicates that praise can bring deliverance, as we see with the example of David playing His harp and the evil spirit left King Saul. The prophets of old used music to help during a release of a prophetic word. Praise and worship can be used to bring the glory of God. Worship is one thing that our Father seeks, and He has equipped us to provide Him with that pleasure. I added a glossary of Hebrew words and definitions to give a better insight that helps the worship leader understand the original meaning of the words used in the Bible for praise and worship. This chapter can also serve as an on-the-go dictionary for worship leaders as well. Whoever reads this book will get a deeper understanding of worship and become more effective in leading worship; members of any church who reads this book will understand what God expects from them in worship and use more expressions in worship and glorify our Father. Rosalind Smith's unvarnished memoir tells the story of her childhood and young adulthood growing up in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. It details how she, despite having earned several degrees, eventually spiraled into drugs and alcohol. With often brutal honesty, Lady Smith peels back the veneer and reveals the ugliness of her past—the generational sins that have affected her, her relationship with her family, her time homeless and on the streets, and an uncompromising act one night in her bathtub. She revisits her past, and praises God for her victorious present, praying that God will use her story to change someone's future.
